

homework

Reading

In Key Stage One, reading with your child is crucial to their understanding of vocabulary and their development as readers. Take the time to ask them questions about what they have read. You should also aim to read books outside of the reading scheme together in order to widen the range of books read.

Extra activities...

A parent information and support sheet outlines what we will be doing each week in class and gives suggestions of additional activities which can be completed if appropriate. For those who like to do a little extra, try the lessons and games on www.mymaths.co.uk or www.ttrockstars.com - great resources to help maths, especially for people who tend to shy away from numbers!

Where possible, children should be given the opportunity to visit the library, explore the local area and take part in extra-curricular activities which will broaden their horizons still further even at this young age.

How can parents help?

- 1 - By showing an interest you are helping your children to learn that school work is important and needs to be taken seriously.
- 2 - Support your child in completing homework tasks to the best of their ability.
- 3 - Express high expectations to children from an early age.

Year

